Cal OES COASTAL REGION

2018 SF Fleet Week, San Francisco

San Francisco's Fleet Week takes place along the Fisherman's Wharf and the Marina District 10/01/18 – 10/08/18. The Parade of Ships, tours, and many community events are scheduled throughout the week.

Activations

- The San Francisco Department of Emergency Management (SF DEM) continues activation, Level 2 \(Partial\), Operations Section only to support final day of Fleet Week Activities, operational period 1000-1800 hours

Deployments

- 1 Cal OES Tactical Communications Assistant Chief is assigned to 2018 Fleet Week, MIGU2, COM25 (Static Display), CRU, and San Mateo Sheriff's Office staff to support.

Cal OES SOUTHERN REGION

Mud Pot Geyser, Niland, Imperial County

On 10/04/18, Imperial Operational Area (OA) notified Cal OES that the existing geyser moved approximately 50 feet toward the Union Pacific Railroad (UPRR) tracks, defeating a metal wall that had been erected as a mitigation measure.

- The movement impacts a UPRR track.
- This will slow down train traffic considerably.
- Shoofly Bypass needs to be finalized to allow trains to safely transit the area.
- The Cal OES Southern Region Duty Officer (SDO) is monitoring and participating in conference calls with the OA.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION

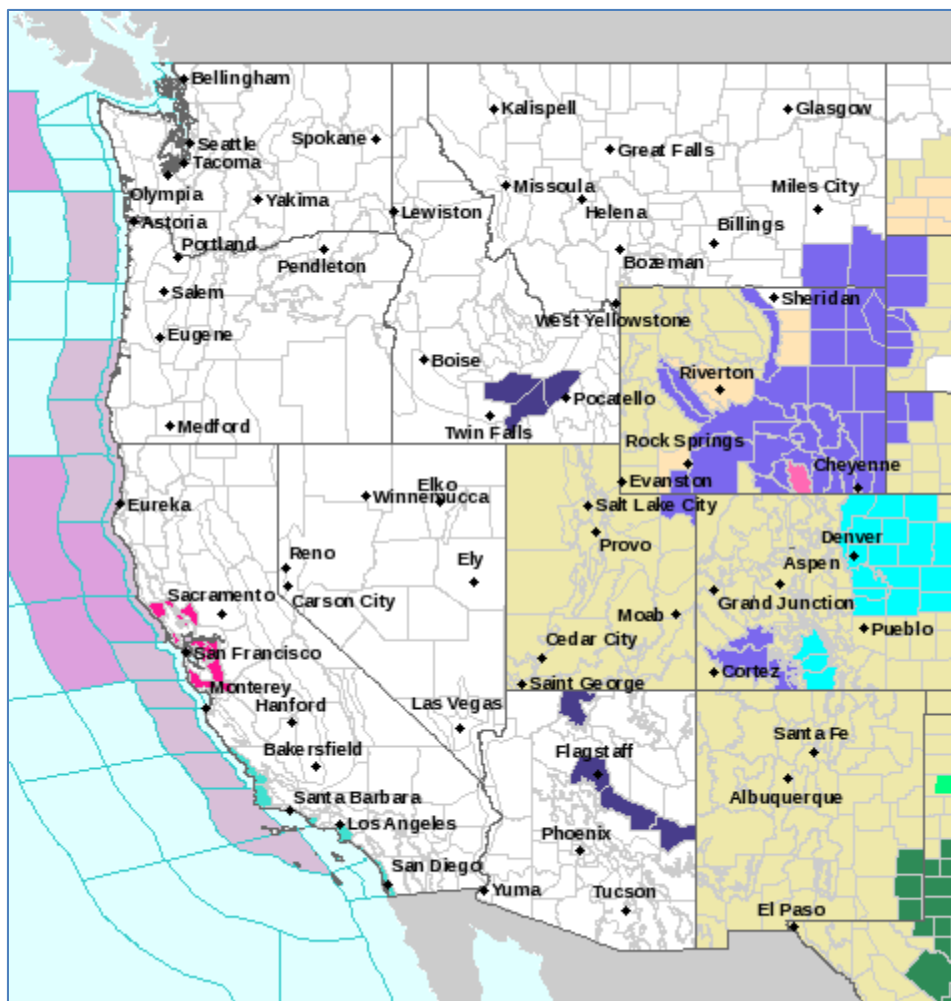

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA

- Strong, gusty N to NE/off shore wind and low Relative Humidity (RH) western Cascade-Sierra slopes to the coast through today with High Risk Significant Fire Potential Diablo-Santa Cruz
- Strong high pressure well off shore and low over AZ have set up north wind pattern over the region for a few days.
- N to NE/off shore winds today from western slopes Cascades/Sierra to coast, speeds 15-25 mph with gusts mostly 30-45 mph, strongest gusts southern Sacramento Valley and nearby mountains plus higher western Cascade/Sierra slopes
- Wind and low RH (minimum around 15%, overnight recovery 20-35%) for the southern Sacramento Valley areas where there has not been much precipitation has led to High Risk designation Diablo/Santa Cruz mountains for the duration of this wind event.
- Other local areas in the Lake/Napa County mountains will have similar wind/min RH, but recent precipitation to help mitigate fire potential those areas
- Mostly clear skies will prevail for the next 7 days, although higher clouds expected at times, especially northern and eastern areas with no significant precipitation from them
- Lighter winds and higher RH are expected Tuesday onward, although some moderately strong, gusty overnight NE to E wind through the western drainages of the Cascades/Sierra seem likely.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

- A couple more troughs will drop down into the Great Basin from Western Canada through Thursday. The bottom of the last trough will cut off from the main flow and form a low-pressure area off the Southern California Coast which will sit and spin through next weekend. Some moisture from Hurricane Sergio may get entrained in this low-pressure area.
- Northeast winds of 15 to 25 mph with gusts to 40 mph will surface across the Angeles National Forest tonight.
- Temperatures will remain 5 to 10 degrees below normal through next weekend, with mid 50s to mid 60s across the mountains and upper 60s and 70s in the valleys.
- Southwest to west winds of 20 to 30 mph with gusts to 50 mph will surface across the desert passes Wednesday afternoon and evening.
- Scattered showers and thunderstorms will be possible across the region Thursday night through next weekend.
